

CHANDLER AND SCHERER MAKE A PATRIOTIC APPEAL TO AN AUDIENCE IN TABERNACLE

Ogden citizens who attended the patriotic mass meeting last night at the tabernacle and heard the noted speakers, George B. Chandler of Connecticut, and Dr. J. A. B. Scherer of Throop college, Pasadena, Cal., learned something of the causes that led to the bloody struggle in Europe and of the plans of the Hun to finally dominate America.

Although speakers of great renown have been here recently and have sent thrills of patriotism through their hearers, none have shown more clearly the righteousness of the battle against the mad ambitions of the Hohenzollerns which the United States and her European associates are waging, than the noted speakers of last night.

Mr. Chandler, who has made diligent research into the history of the forces that flung civilization into a maelstrom of carnage, pictured with awful realism the trend of the Hun policy which met its first serious check at the Marne as the Russian hordes were marching on Paris early in the war. Going back some time in the history of the Germanic nations, the speaker showed how, little by little, the links in the chain of Prussian domination were forged and expanded to the heat of royal ambition and the need for political extension of the nation, as seen through Hohenzollern eyes.

Dr. Scherer told of the conditions in the United States as he had noticed them in his travels about the country, and he paid a compliment to the state of Utah, declaring that he had found a true spirit of patriotism among the people here.

On the Platform.

A number of the leading citizens of the city were seated on the platform with the noted speakers, among them Mayor T. S. Browning, Dr. E. M. Conroy, chairman of the Weber county council of defense; T. G. Burt and Guy Johnson, council of defense members; Chris Flygare and M. L. Jones, city commissioners; S. S. Smith, federal land examiner; State Senator Joseph Chey, Attorney John D. Murphy, David W. Evans, a business man, and the Rev. Godfrey Mathews, pastor of the Baptist church.

Mayor T. Samuel Browning acted as chairman of the meeting and first introduced Dr. E. M. Conroy, chairman of the Weber County Council of Defense, who mentioned the things that have been done by citizens of Ogden, and the state of Utah as a whole, in giving aid to the nation in the cause of the hour.

There was a musical program that was beautiful, indeed, a number of patriotic selections being played on the tabernacle organ and Miss Mildred Ware singing her song which has thrilled a number of Ogden audiences recently, "The Bugle Call." The song brought great applause from the audience.

Mr. Chandler's Address.

Mr. Chandler was the first speaker. He said in part:

"I believe we will win this war because primarily I believe in God Almighty, and I am confident the justice of our aims will not go unassisted. When the foe finds he cannot break through the west line, then is the time for a peace offensive. When the time comes, a peace campaign will be inaugurated. The enemy will be willing to sign any kind of a peace agreement as long as the provinces in the middle empires can be held. At that moment, I firmly believe a strident blast for peace will be made by a string of fourteen popular dailies. Lookout for that hour, we will say to Germany as we would to a thief whom we capture while looting our home. 'We will not arbitrate,' but will force the restoration of all the stolen goods, the reimbursement for damage caused, and a just decision by a court of justice. Our president and our people will be impetuous by strong impulses to give up the struggle before the right is won, and the greatest determination will be needed by our people to resist the temptation."

Mr. Chandler, during the course of his talk, illustrating a point he wished to drive home, read a letter written by an American soldier in France to his mother in an eastern city.

"This war is like a ball game," the soldier wrote. "Four innings have been played, with Germany on one side and the allies on the other. The game is a tie, with the allies at bat in the fifth and one out, Russia. There are three men on bases, England, France and Italy, with Uncle Sam coming to bat. Can he bring 'em in? He will bring them in."

Mr. Chandler recalled a visit to the mountain country eighteen years ago. His mission then was similar to the one which brought him to Ogden last night. It was war with Spain.

Dr. Scherer's Address.
When Dr. Scherer arose to speak he lost no time in going to the root of the evil of the century and placed the entire blame on the Kaiser and his militaristic following. Dr. Scherer gave statistics which unmistakably prove the truth of his statements that the great and awful war was brought on because of the ambitions of one man. The speaker administered a scathing rebuke to those individuals and organizations that are blocking the aims of the United States to pursue to a definite and speedy conclusion the issues of war with the unscrupulous enemy.

Councils of defense of every state are doing excellent work. America is beginning to put her strength into the war, but by no means has done what she should, and a more closely united and greater nation, enjoying a better understanding and intercourse with her present allies, will emerge from the conflict, was the message of Mr. Scherer.

NEW HOURS FOR ALL THE BARBER SHOPS

The new regulations governing the opening and closing hours of barber shops throughout the state will go into effect next Monday morning, the hours announced in tentative form a short time ago by W. F. Jensen, commissioner of commercial economy for the state, having been found agreeable to a majority of those concerned.

Under the new schedule, shops will open at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and will close at 6:30 in the evening. There were a few objections filed with Mr. Jensen by the proprietors of hotel-shops who claimed that it would work a hardship on the casual tourist. It was generally agreed, however, that the majority of citizens would find the new hours very agreeable.

On nights preceding holidays and on Saturday nights shops will remain open not later than 9 o'clock.

"No barber shop shall be open on Sunday or on any legal holiday, provided, however, that when the legal holiday shall fall upon a Saturday or Monday, barber shops may at their option open at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 1 o'clock noon."

"Barbers should notify their customers that this is a war measure, intended to aid in the conservation of man power and the elimination of waste. The patriotic observance of these regulations is the duty both of the barber and of the customer."

"Violations of the provisions of these regulations should be promptly reported to the undersigned."

FATHER TO PLEAD FOR LIFE OF SON

SALT LAKE, May 18.—Declaring his belief that his son was guilty of the crime of murdering his wife, Dal DeWeese of Canon City, Colo., father of Howard DeWeese, condemned to be shot on May 24, arrived in town last night and this morning will appear before the pardons board to plead for a commutation of the slayer's sentence.

"I have reason for believing that Howard did not commit this crime," the father said. He did not tell what that reason was. The elder DeWeese, who is stopping at the Hotel Utah, admitted that his son had been of a wayward disposition, but he argued that he had no need to resort to murder to rid himself of his wife. He said, in response to an inquiry, that he had remained in the background until he felt that his coming to his son's aid could be of some practical value.

The father will ask for a conference with his son before going to the pardon board this morning. If the board denies the appeal for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment, he will not remain here for the tragic eventuality.

LUCERMO PLANT 500 TONS A DAY

Since the Hansen Livestock and Feeding company established the mill for manufacturing the new feed, Lucerno, at the new feeding yards west of the Weber river, the business of the company has become so important that more executive attention was required, and to meet this need a man of special ability in the stock business, Lars Hansen himself, resigned his office as president of the Ogden Packing & Provision company so that he might be free to direct the business of the feeding company without delegating too much of the important business to subordinates.

In line with the announced policy of the Hansen Livestock and Feeding company to increase the output of the new plant to 500 tons a day just as rapidly as the additions to the buildings can be erected and the new additional machinery installed, Mr. Hansen will at once push the work.

It is the hope of the company to be able to turn out Lucerno feed for the trade so that the large orders now on hand may be filled. At the present time the company is using the product, 200 tons a day, as fast as they can manufacture it, their 4,000 head of cattle and several thousand head of sheep, besides many hundreds of hogs requiring a great quantity of forage.

The company is planning on large storage capacity, so that a supply of raw materials sufficient to last many months can be stored when special opportunities for buying present themselves. The company has purchased 40 acres of land that lies adjacent to the 60 acres of feeding grounds, so that the company now has 100 acres in the edge of the city devoted to feeding space. The feeding mangers and troughs on this ground now would make a line more than a mile long if placed with ends together, and still more are to be built to take care of the increasing numbers of cattle and sheep. These feeding mangers are so erected that there is absolutely no loss in feeding, although the food is accessible at all times and the stock may eat when they please.

The immediate expenditures of this company will amount to between $50,000 and $75,000, which will go into the improvements for increasing the capacity at the mill plant for the manufacture of Lucerno feed.

The fame of the new feed has spread so rapidly among the stock men of the west, it being so cheap compared with other kinds of forage and even pasture and also being so easy to transport, especially to isolated parts of the desert country when heavy snows may cut off a band of sheep or cattle, that the company desires to begin the manufacture for commercial trade on a large scale as soon as possible. There are many applications for the feed from stockmen all over the country,
